Precious Metals Market Report

"Truth, like gold, is to be obtained not by its growth, but by washing away from it all that is not gold."

~Leo Tolstoy

By Catherine Austin Fitts

This Thursday on The Solari Report, we will post my Precious Metals Market Report. I am going solo this time. Having just researched and published a significant Annual Wrap Up, I want to have a heart to heart with you about the gold and silver markets in 2013 and how to approach these markets in the new year. I will cover some of my recommendations in my recent post, What Percentage of My Assets Should I Hold in Precious Metals?.

I just finished this history

If you have not had an opportunity to read or listen to the Annual Wrap-Up, please do. We will post links in the subscriber section of this blog post. It is excellent background for our discussion and your strategic planning for 2014.

In Money & Markets I will cover recent events in the financial markets and economy.

In Let's Go to the Movies, I will review Oliver Stone's epic documentary, The Untold History of the United States.

Just A Taste - Break Away Goal

Get a "taste" of The Solari Report with this video excerpt from last week's report:

"Our theme tonight for the annual wrap up is the same that we've chosen for our poster for 2014. That theme is 'Break Away'. There are deep and various shifts happening with investment and credit as we speak. The changes that this will make will ripple across society."

Highlights from Last Week's Report

"Deep, significant shifts in investment and credit flows are like a shift in the water table and the rivers and streams within a place. The change ripples throughout the ecosystem. It changes where things grow and where you build a house. It changes the fundamental economics of many of the businesses and enterprises. It changes the "field" – the energetics around us - and that changes the dynamics of many of our personal and professional relationships."
