Solari Report Update

Breakaway Economy Pt. 1

By Catherine Austin Fitts

This week's Solari Report is a follow up to your questions on our January Annual Wrap Up.

It is a briefing on the parts of the global economy experiencing significant investment, including from funds shifted out of governmental systems over the last twenty years and technology transferred from black budget programs.

In the first part, I will brief you on WHO is running things and what their concerns are.

The Touch

We will look top down – from the global or G-7 level as well as from the viewpoint of the managers of large intergenerational pools of capital, such as pension funds, sovereign wealth funds and pools of family and private syndicate wealth. We will also look bottom up – from the viewpoint of an individual or head of household, the head of a small business or a small town mayor. How does this change how we relate to our family, our community and our colleagues?

In the second part, on March 13, I will address WHAT is happening – what we are building, growing and doing.

Highlights from Last Week's Report

"He is literally a walking library of this phenomena and brings to it not just encyclopedia knowledge, but the ability to put it into a framework with intellectual integrity. As far as I'm concerned, he's not only a national treasure, but an international treasure. I've embarrassed him enough. With that, Richard, welcome to The Solari Report."
