Protecting You and Your Family from Psychiatric Drugs with Kelly Patricia O'Meara

By Catherine Austin Fitts

This week on the Solari Report, we will talk with Kelly Patricia O'Meara about trends in the use of psychiatric drugs and steps you can take to protect you and your family from related abuses.

Kelly is an award-winning investigative reporter whose coverage of the adverse effects of psychiatric mind-altering drugs is virtually unmatched in the United States. After a successful career as a Congressional staff member, Kelly joined Washington's Insight Magazine where she

I asked one of my very favorite bloggers, Nines of "the nines" to blog as published more than two dozen hard-hitting articles examining the prescription psychiatric drugs and the increasing number of school shootings.

After six years at Insight, Kelly became an independent author with the publication of Psyched Out: How Psychiatry Sells Mental Illness and Pushes Pills That Kill, an in-depth investigation into the fraud of psychiatric diagnosing and the dangerous, potentially life-threatening adverse reactions connected to the prescription mind-altering drugs used as “treatment.” She continues to publish powerful reports of the use of psychiatric drugs with children, members of the military and our wider society. You can find many of her most recent articles here. <http://www.cchrint.org>

The statistics and facts related to this phenomenon are deeply disturbing. I want to make sure you understand the high-pressure tactics sometimes used to pressure people to take these drugs or to give them to loved ones and the failure to warn of the potential risks so you are prepared to interact safely with the American medical and educational systems on these issues.

Kelly is one of my favorite truth tellers. No one is more fascinating or fearless when addressing the life changing issues that impact us at the most intimate levels of our lives. This is one you do not want to miss!
