The rebalancing of the global economy
continues:

- The flow of wealth moves from West to East; from North to South; as goods and natural resources flow back;

- The infrastructure for a global currency builds out: Swift and Swift alternatives, smart phones, satellite systems and navies;
- There is drama and tension created by competing teams: Snowden vs. the NSA, Putin vs. the G-7, the BRICS trading, swapping and reorganizing;
- The institutions of Global 2.0 struggle to manage as funds flow into Global 3.0 investment and dark pools.

As the pendulum swings back and forth, the Hegelian dialectic is served. Rebalancing does not go in a straight line. It is a pendulum swinging back and forth; with insiders harvesting the outsiders as money cycles through the financial markets. Digital systems facilitate ever more leverage, feeding centralized control.

At the heart of the dance is the price of the US dollar and of gold. The prices swing up and down – usually moving in opposition. Factions push their book:

- The US Dollar Index is going to 122, no, now 165;
- The US Dollar Index is collapsing – it is going to zero;
- Gold is going to $10,000 per ounce;
- Gold will drop through $1,100 and then sink to 700.

The price prophecies are rife with stories that terrorize and delight:

- The future is hopeless, there will be nuclear war;
- JP Morgan will collapse shortly and the richest bankers will be bankrupted;
- Mother earth has taken over the bank information systems – they no longer obey the central banks. All will be well;
- The Dragon Elders are the wealthiest families in the world. From Asia, they are shrouded in mystery. They are going to save us all;

- The Iraqi dinar is being reset tomorrow and my investment will be worth $20 million. No, tomorrow. A day later, tomorrow. A year later, tomorrow. For years now, tomorrow.
- Climate change is a huge emergency. We must centralize control and live in poverty to save our planet.

The stories play on our fear and greed. They appeal to our desire for certainty; for an explanation that makes sense of the chaotic process; for a big bang ending to the slow burn after which everything promises to make sense again; for a peek into the inside circle.

Behind the scenes, the build out of the global currency and payment systems and the growth of equity markets fueled by central bank largesse march steadily forward. The governance system may be invisible and the process may be emergent, but the financial goals are clear.

This week is the Precious Metal Market Report on The Solari Report, Franklin Sanders of The Moneychanger will join me to brief us on the latest developments in the gold and silver markets and to share his insight on what technical analysis is telling him about current market trends.

I have asked Franklin to help me address potential scenarios for my 2015 investment strategies. We will also address how to follow geopolitical developments and financial prices in a manner that looks squarely at all the risks ahead without losing time, money or even our minds to less likely, wildcard or whacky scenarios.

The Secret Space Program Videos are Now Available to Solari Report Subscribers!

Our friends from The Secret Space Program have very kindly allowed us to provide the video to our subscribers!

“What is in space now and what can be? How does space influence all of our lives? Are there Cosmic Cultures and Civilizations? Are they visiting us, are they under us? If so, how will this impact our lives? Midst all the myths and legends, speculations and interpretations, theories and perspectives, fears and “research”, how does one discern the truth? With the spins and twists presented in books, documentaries, conferences and speakers, you might find your answers during this unique conference.

If we manage to ask the right questions and put some of the pieces together we might be getting closer to some kind of answer – what is really going on out there? Who is really running things? What are their goals? Why are they behaving this way?”

Highlights from Last Week's Report

This week on The Solari Report, I speak with Patty Kemmerer of Kemmerer Schooley Smith, CPAs about U.S. year-end tax and financial planning. Our goal is to inspire you to take action now while there is still time to get things done before the end of the tax year.

Patty and I will be review the full gamut of issues, big and small, including gifting, college financing, 401ks and IRA investments, Affordable Care Act penalties and the tax implications of crowdfunding. We will also address administrative issues, including: “How do I find a CPA or a bookkeeper I can trust?” Look for lots of practical ideas to help taxes bite less and compliance go smoothly.

In Money & Markets, I will discuss the latest in geopolitical news and financial markets development.

In Let's Go to the Movies, I suggest a comedy to warm your heart – If I Were You. A remarkable performance by Marcia Gay Harden as the jilted wife demonstrates what can happen when human kindness and imagination transform what is worth nourishing in a bad situation. There is a small bonus for those of us who love Shakespeare. Harden’s character drowns her sorrows by playing King Lear in an amateur production. The last time I saw King Lear performed, Anthony Hopkins played Lear in a serious, classic version. Watching a Harden offer up a more whimsical, female Lear is a most unique interpretation!
