Precious Metals Market Report with Franklin Sanders- Mar. 12

To

"Truth, like gold, is to be obtained not by its growth, but by washing away from it all that is not gold."

~Leo Tolstoy

This week is the Precious Metal Market Report on the Solari Report, Franklin Sanders of The Moneychanger will join me to brief us on the latest developments in the gold and silver markets and to share his insight on what technical analysis is telling him about current market trends, including the potential impact of continued rises in the dollar and changes in the Fed interest rate policy.

We have had a number of questions regarding my continual, adamant opposition to calls for a U.S. constitutional convention. I have asked Franklin to address this issue with me, to review some of the most important financial aspects of the US Constitution as well the financial implications if the current US leadership is free to rewrite it.

The interview series we did with Franklin, Precious Metals – The Top Ten Dates in American History, is great background for this discussion.

Catherine’s Latest Crowdfund: Scoop.co.nz to Fly In 2015

[CAF Note: Scoop's contribution to free press globally is a modern day David and Goliath story. Great reporting requires great publishers and enlightened owners to back them up – and Scoop has been there for scores of reporters and truth-tellers around the world for many years. When the courts were not there, Scoop's leadership on outing Enron and the people behind them played a critical role in making sure the court of popular opinion did work. Ditto on early transparency about the US mortgage bubble and fraud and corruption in the US federal finances – thousands of people knew how to protect themselves before the bubble burst. Scoop changed the course of history with their support of 911 disclosure, Unanswered Questions and Paul Thompson's timeline, well ahead of the US press. All of this while sticking to the nuts and bolts of supporting literate citizens and democratic process in one of the most active, entrepreneurial, engaged countries in the world. You would do me a great honor by joining me in supporting the Scoop crowdfunding effort. No amount is too little. Every contribution is appreciated and counts!]

by Alastair Thompson

At Scoop we believe that access to independent news and investigative journalism is a public right that is essential for democracy to thrive. But it is a public right that is eroding. Digital technology now enables a business model to be developed that makes news freely accessible to all citizens, and in which the news apparatus itself can be transparent. Creating this new kind of news organisation is what "Operation Chrysalis" is all about. We are taking a bold step to preserve the public right to access news.

We plan to transform into a not-for-profit media organisation held for the benefit of all NZers, accountable to the community of news communicators and consumers it serves.

Breakthrough Energy with Joel Garbon is Now Available Publicly!

Breakthrough Energy with Joel Garbon is now available to all Solari readers!

Solari Readers can listen to the interview here!

From the report:

Oil and gas prices have dropped by almost 50% over the last year, with significant consequence to the values of companies, currencies and the balance of trade between nations.

What is causing this drop? Clearly, the “Oil Card” is at play – the US manipulating prices lower to pressure Russia as part of economic sanctions. No doubt, a slowing global economy is also reducing demand. However, a wide range of new technologies are also at play – from fracking technology to a global smart phone revolution to increasing productivity in material sciences and renewable energy. However, there is always the possibility of breakthrough energy innovations in the mix.

To explore what is happening in breakthrough energy, I asked industrial scientist Joel Garbon, head of the New Energy Movement, to join us on the Solari Report to update you on the innovations underway. What is the likelihood that breakthrough energy may impact the economy in the foreseeable future? Talking with Joel is always a fascinating exploration of what is possible.

Highlights from the 2014 Annual Wrap Up

On Thursday, January 8th, the Solari Report team published our Annual Wrap Up, complete with an online Web Presentation with graphs and charts to help you assess and digest the richness of our topic.

Here is what I will be covering:

- A Free and Inspired Life – our theme for 2015.
- Money Maps of the World – we have created a tool to review the “geo” of “geopolitics.”
- Planet Equity – our choice for the “big trend” to highlight this year.
- The Most Important Stories of 2014 and the Deeper Trends – I look at critical drivers in our culture and economy that define your opportunities and risks.
- 2014 Financial Market Round Up – a review of performance in the global financial markets.
- 2015: Get Ready, Get Ready, Get Ready – let’s talk about scenarios and strategies for this coming year.
- Vision 2020 – The Solari Report team wants to support your free and inspired life: here are our plans for 2015.

- Best Books for 2015 – Some of our favorite picks to keep you in the know this year.
- And the Winners are... – announcing the Solari Report hero, documentary and movie of the year.
- Credits and Closing – The Solari Report draws from the best and the brightest – we want to remind you of who they are and how you can enjoy their offerings.

This is a great way to start your year – with perspective!

Highlights from Our Last Report

As discussed in our Annual Wrap Up, the geopolitical ground is shifting under our feet. This has profound implications for global valuations – indeed watching global valuations offers important insights on the rebalancing of the global economy.

In our 1st Quarter Equity Overview this Thursday, I will review global valuations in the equity markets, the impact of sovereign fiscal policy and central bank monetary policy and what the trend in valuations tell us about long term opportunities and risks.

At subscribers request, I will also address specific questions:

- the outlook for the US dollar and the impact of dollar performance on the US stock market;
- issues and options to consider for your portfolio and investment strategy;
- a serious deflationary scenario – could it happen and what would the implications be for your strategy; and,
- the pros and cons of direct securities registration.
