What's Up This Fall 2015? - Sep 03

To

"Rush hour cometh."

~ Pastor Melvin Bufford, September 16, 2001

The fall is always an intense period in the financial markets.

The agricultural harvest is still coming in – one of the great contributors to economic wealth. A good harvest multiplies throughout the economy – a poor harvest generates concerns. The U.S. federal budget is in negotiation as are many other government budgets. Companies and organizations that are on a calendar year are focused on accomplishing results before year end. This is a time when a lot of decisions have to be made.

In one sense Fall 2015 is no different. On the other hand, change is accelerating and too many decisions have been delayed. Those decisions are made more difficult as plunging commodities prices and unprecedented debt levels contribute to deflation concerns.

All eyes are on the Federal Reserve in September as they consider an increase in interest rates as well as Congress as they consider the Iran deal, the new federal budget and raising the debt limit. The Pope will address a joint session of Congress and the UN followed on by a gathering of world leaders scheduled to address the United Nation's General Debate of the 70th Session in New York City, including Obama, Xi Jinping, Putin, Hollande and Rouhani.

Ever since I published What's Up This Fall 2015? I have been reviewing the schedule of events with colleagues and subscribers. It's time to organize this discussion into a Solari Report.

Now Available to Non-Subscribers! - Trade Agreements Part Two: Trade In Services Agreement Background, Composition of Support and Opposition, Potential Dangers and Links

Note from CAF: This piece is the second part of a series on the proposed trade agreements. Our first piece on the Trans-Pacific Partnership can be found [here. These agreements are expected to have a significant impact on the global economy. We hope these pieces help to educate you about what is underway.]

By Carolyn A. Betts, Esq. and Catherine Austin Fitts

In Part 1 of the Solari Report's series on international trade agreements and trade promotion authority, we provided a summary of some of the terms of the secret draft sections of the Trans Pacific Partnership Agreement (TPP), a proposed regional free trade agreement that would cover the trade in goods among twelve Pacific Rim countries, including the US. We provided links to sections of the TPP that have been leaked by Wikileaks and described some of the objections registered by various groups that oppose the TPP. We described some non-tariff trade barriers sought to be addressed in typical free trade agreements like the TPP and the international tribunals that have become the arbiters of disagreements among signatories (called "Parties") to various trade agreements in recent years.

Highlights from Our Last Report - Wellness: Staying Energized this Fall with Dr. Laura Thompson

Autumn is approaching and I am concerned that this fall is going to be particularly intense. Check out my description in What's Up This Fall 2015?

With just a few weeks of summer remaining, it is critical that we plan ahead and reserve time on our fall calendars to 1) reduce stress and 2) protect our health. We are entering a period where paying close attention to wellness could make an important difference.

To help me explore this subject, I have asked Dr. Laura Thompson to join me on the Solari Report this week. Dr. Thompson is the CEO and founder of the Southern California Institute of Clinical Nutrition based in Carlsbad, California. She received her Ph.D. in Nutrition and Human Behavior from Ryokan College in Los Angeles, studied naturopathy and iridology with Dr. Bernard Jensen, and culinary arts at the Paris American Academy in Paris, France.

We will focus on the steps you can take to reduce stress, build your immune system and reduce toxicity. I will be drawing on our previous Solari Reports with Dr. Thompson:
