PRODUCTIVITY, PROSPERITY & THE POPSICLE INDEX

2nd Quarter Wrap Up - News Trends & Stories, Part II - July 14th

To

"My high octane speculation for today reiterates something I've suggested in many previous blogs: with the commercialization of space comes the inevitable necessity of protecting those national assets, but with the mining of space and local celestial bodies like the Moon, comes the necessity of protecting those assets, and the "sea lanes" to them. And that requires not only the need to re-position American assets currently available further out, it also requires new military-space assets to be positioned further out. One can even go so far as to envision "seleno-synchronous" orbits for satellites around the Moon, and occupying various layered orbits between the Earth and the Moon. If this reading of these stories be correct, then this means the USA and China – and therefore inevitably Japan, India, Europe, and Russia – are about to embark on a massive increase in space-related activity, both military and commercial." ~ Dr. Joseph P. Farrell, May 17, 2016

We continue our publication of the 2nd Quarter Wrap Up this week with News Trends & Stories, Part II.

Last week, in Part I, Dr. Farrell and I covered Economy and Financial Markets and Geopolitics, including a serious discussion of Brexit. This was a very timely discussion. Dr. Farrell and I believe that Brexit reflects the British establishment preference to move the United Kingdom and the Commonwealth to a more independent role in a multipolar world. The latest headlines — Washington tensions, Putin's warnings about the buildup towards war, Tony Blair's defense of his Iraq record, and the NATO buildup in Eastern Europe, including British troops moving into Estonia and Poland — affirm the soundness of the British strategy. The world does not need Iraq II, let alone World War III.

This week in Part II, Dr. Farrell and I will cover Science and Technology and The Big Questions. This part includes a discussion of the explosive global investment in space exploration and the space-based economy, including some of the incredible stories that defined what is happening in space this year.

Make sure to check our web presentation for the complete listing of News Trends & Stories for the 2nd Quarter. Log in and access it through your subscriber links.

Stay tuned for the final two parts of the 2nd Quarter Wrap Up in the third and fourth week of July:

- Financial Market Roundup: In the third week, we will combine a written Blockbuster Chartology from master technician Rambus with my Equity Overview. Make sure to check our web presentation for the complete roundup of financial market charts as of June 30.
- Productivity, Prosperity & the Popsicle Index: Finally, our big theme. How do we blast through the Orwellian BS about productivity coming out of folks like Alan Greenspan? How do we get down to what needs to be done and integrate dazzling innovation with real human productivity and prosperity? We will post our discussion of the “real deal” on productivity and prosperity in our final week.

Highlights from Last Week - 2nd Quarter Wrap Up - Productivity, Prosperity & the Popsicle Index

The Real Nitty Gritty on Productivity & Prosperity

In short, this mirage of “productivity” — much of it designed to ensure politically connected centralized monopolies win — is financed with skyrocketing government debt issuance, central bank bond purchases and a wide variety of drains on the time, income and assets of the general population.

It’s not real, it does not work, and we can only hope the game is up now that that “debt growth model” is over.

It’s time to review what has happened and what to do about it. First and foremost, the world is full of John and Sue Manley’s who are highly productive people. We need to unleash them from the “slow burn” that is destroying their productivity. Second, time is of the essence. Not only is the debt growth model over, developments in the second quarter of 2016, including Brexit, have rung the bell: we are shifting to a multipolar world. The future of the US dollar as the primary global reserve currency is now in question.

2nd Quarter Wrap Up: Four Parts Throughout July

Our 2nd Quarter Wrap Up will be presented throughout July in four parts:

- News Trends & Stories: For the next two weeks we will chew through the top news trends and stories with Dr. Joseph Farrell. This coming week in Part I, we will look at Economy and Financial Markets and Geopolitics, including a serious discussion of Brexit. Brexit is a clearly the story of the 2nd Quarter.

- The following week in Part II, Dr. Farrell and I will cover the Science and Technology and The Big Questions. Make sure to check our web presentation for the complete listing of News Trends & Stories for the 2nd Quarter.
- Financial Market Roundup: In the third week, we will combine a written Blockbuster Chartology from master technician Rambus with Catherine's Equity Overview. Make sure to check our web presentation for the complete round up of financial market charts on June 30.
- Productivity, Prosperity & the Popsicle Index: Finally, our big theme. How do we blast through the Orwellian BS about productivity coming out of folks like Alan Greenspan? How do we get down to what needs to be done to integrate dazzling innovation with real human productivity and prosperity? We will post our discussion of the "real deal" on productivity and prosperity in our final week.

We Never Give Up!

At Solari, we never give up on the notion that genius can serve humanity as a whole. Indeed, our calculations indicate that the monopolists will be wealthier when it does. It's simple – free markets create far more wealth than fascism. Secrecy designed to protect national security ultimately creates privileges which destroys the very society the secrets were meant to protect.

As I have said many times before, now is not the time in the history of our people for a failure of imagination!
